For more detailed information about the conduct process, please check out the Student Code of Conduct. Encourage your student to:

- Avoid anti-social behavior in student housing. Violations typically make noise, underage drinking, and/or alcohol/marijuana related.
- Sometimes conflicts with alcohol and marijuana violations lead students to participate in court and University conduct processes. The law of the result of their activity (typically noise, underage drinking, and/or alcohol/marijuana related violations).

Student Conduct Tips

- Take advantage of the deadline to file in October:
  - Students who apply  will be considered for ALL WCU scholarships that require the FAFSA.
  - Students will have more time to clear any financial aid alerts that prevent federal aid from being awarded.

- During the housing search process in the following ways:
  - Off Campus and Commuter Services Planning Tips
    - Visit Places4Students
    - Attend a Moving Off Campus session in one of the residence halls.
    - Student Union to meet property owners and explore different housing options off campus.
    - Housing will be available up to August, just may be fewer choices.
    - Lease dates vary from property owner to property owner. Leases typically begin in July and end in August.
    - The majority of students begin their search in October for the following year.

- Set up an individual housing plan consultation with OCCS by emailing mholroyd@wcupa.edu.
- Attend a Moving Off Campus session in one of the residence halls.
- Encourage your student to ask a Resident Assistant when the session is occurring.
- Visit Locations for Student Housing.
- Leasing places can be found on the far right side of my website.

A Message from President Fiorentino

Greetings Ram Fam!

- Your student is spending a lot of time in class and may be feeling overwhelmed by the amount of work needed to be successful in each course. Checking in about classes (not grades!) can help open up the conversation about how your student is prioritizing their time.

- Inevitable. How are your classes? What is it like living in a residence hall OR what is commuting like? Or, if you or your student can always contact the Office of Student Conduct at 610-436-

- You or your student can always contact the Office of Parent and Family Relations at AMcCarthy@wcupa.edu.
- As always, please reach out with any questions, comments, or concerns you may have. Whether your student is new or returning to WCU, now is an important time to remind them of the importance of work needed to be successful in each course. Checking in about classes (not grades!) can help open up the conversation about how your student is prioritizing their time.

- Your student is spending a lot of time in class and may be feeling overwhelmed by the amount of work needed to be successful in each course. Checking in about classes (not grades!) can help open up the conversation about how your student is prioritizing their time.

- Whether your student is new or returning to WCU, now is an important time to remind them of the importance of work needed to be successful in each course. Checking in about classes (not grades!) can help open up the conversation about how your student is prioritizing their time.

- Students know their families disapprove of their behavior, they are less likely to engage. Engaging in unhealthy behaviors. You are one of the key influencers in your student's behavior; if you know your student is finding their choices put them in conflict with the Student Code of Conduct and/or the law and find themselves having to participate in court and University conduct processes as a result of their activity (typically noise, underage drinking, and/or alcohol/marijuana related violations).