

INCLUSIVE TEACHING

Inclusive teaching efforts at the University of Oregon are getting a big boost with a six-year grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute to meaningfully evaluate effective and inclusive teaching.

The award amounts to nearly $500,000, which will fund projects that support teaching development, faculty leadership and resource-sharing, and the creation of new tools to better understand the prevalence and impacts of inclusive teaching practices.

Sign up for the Inclusive Teaching mailing list, get involved in a spring peer observation across the curriculum program called Duck In, check out new resources that introduce inclusive teaching and universal design, and more at the Inclusive Teaching at UO webpage.

RESOURCES

Spring 2023 Course Resources: Find resources and tools to help you prepare and launch new classes, including:

- Adaptable Canvas modules that orient students to the course, streamline absence reporting, and define and emphasize academic integrity.
- A “Starter Syllabus” that incorporates all UO-required policies as well as many sample course policies—even new samples related to artificial intelligence systems.
- Key spring terms dates.
- Samples of reason-neutral course policies.
- A primer on accommodations in partnership with the Accessible Education Center.

Exam proctoring for online classes: These services will be relocated to rooms 041 and 042 of Knight Library in spring term, as UO prepares to create a single destination for testing services on campus. If you use the UO Online Exam Center to proctor exams for your online class, please advise students of this temporary location change.
