Inclusive teaching efforts at the University of Oregon are getting a big boost with a six-year grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute to meaningfully evaluate effective and inclusive teaching. The award amounts to nearly $500,000, which will fund projects that support teaching development, faculty leadership and resource-sharing, and the creation of new tools to better understand the prevalence and impacts of inclusive teaching practices.

Sign up for the Inclusive Teaching mailing list, get involved in a spring peer observation across the curriculum program, and explore emerging issues in teaching and learning at the University of Oregon.

Event: Teaching at UO Online
When: Friday, April 21
Time: 9:00 to 2:00 pm
Where: Knight Library Dream Lab
Join us this term as we explore emerging issues in teaching and learning at UO and generate ideas and materials to use in our classrooms.

INCLUSIVE TEACHING:
- Inclusive Recruitment and Retention Summit: Join us on April 18 to generate ideas and materials to use in our classrooms.
- Teaching at UO Online and TEP are here to support you in your teaching and learning.

AWARDS
- Graduate Education Excellence Awards: Nominate deserving graduate students for the PhD, Masters, or Professional degrees.
- 2023-24 Provost Fellows: Applications for teaching leadership and development in higher education.
- Sustainability Fellows: Applications due by April 17.

RESOURCES
- Spring 2023 Course Resources: Find resources and tools to help you engage and launch new courses.
- Academic Impressions: Share your Black literature teaching experiences at UO.
- TeP will open a seat in one of your spring classes to a faculty member.
- For any and all who are interested in incorporating Black literature teaching at UO, join the Inclusive Teaching and Learning at UO.

Resources:
- Teaching at UO Online and TEP are here to support you in your teaching and learning.
- Inclusive Excellence at the University of Oregon are getting a big boost with a six-year grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute to meaningfully evaluate effective and inclusive teaching.

You're being sent this message based on your affiliation with the University of Oregon.