美國的暴力民粹主義時代

Robert Pape

Professor, Department of Political Science
Director, Chicago Project on Security and Threats
The University of Chicago

U.S. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION SERIES
★★★★★★

America's election in 2024 is not only the "most important" in our lifetimes – it may also be the most dangerous.

Although the assassination attempt against the former president and Republican nominee, Donald Trump, happened in seconds, it is a symptom of a more serious underlying, chronic condition of American politics that has been growing worse for years and is likely to lead to still more turbulence in the years ahead.

Using years of national surveys of support for political violence in the United States, Professor Robert Pape's lecture will explain the rise of violent populism in America and what to expect heading into – and after – the 2024 election.
