CMU Portugal welcomes its first group of Affiliated Ph.D. candidates

The CMU Portugal Program is thrilled to welcome 12 new students to its CMU Portugal Affiliated Ph.D. Programs Initiative. Launched for the first time in the 2021/2022 Academic year, this new initiative offers Ph.D. scholarships in selected cutting-edge areas of Information and Communication Technologies (ICT), related to the scope of the CMU Portugal Program. The new Ph.Ds will be hosted by a Portuguese University and can conduct a research period at Carnegie Mellon up to one year. Upon the Ph.D. conclusion, candidates will be awarded a degree by the Portuguese host University.

2021 Doctoral Symposium, a platform to present the research work developed under the Program

The 2021 CMU Portugal Doctoral Symposium took place on September 15th at Pavilhão do Conhecimento in Lisbon and gathered 24 Ph.D. students who presented their research work developed under the CMU Portugal Program. The main goal of this new initiative was to foster a supportive community of Ph.D. candidates and promote a collaborative research environment by providing participants the opportunity to present their work plans and discuss the results with their peers. The six parallel sessions were chaired by a diverse group including CMU Portugal alumni, scientific directors, and leading experts from the Program’s affiliated companies.

The welcome session counted with the participation of Rosalia Vargas (President of Agência Ciência Viva), Inês Lynce (on behalf of CMU Portugal Directors), José Paulo Esperança (Vice President of Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia), and Manuel Heitor (Minister for Science, Technology and Higher Education).
