A Reflection from our Hindu Advisor

In Sanskrit, Vasanta (वसंत) means “spring.” Vasant Ritu (वसंत रूति) or “spring season” is also known as Rituraja (रितुराज) or “king of all the seasons.” During this time, it is neither too hot nor too cold and Mother Nature seems to be calling us out into the open, like sprouts from the ground. I love this season for the energy of new beginnings and new growth.

I also send my warmest regards as we prepare for the auspicious time of Holi, beginning this weekend and marked by a Festival of Colors. Known as one of Lord Krishna’s favorite celebrations, playing with colored waters and colored powders is a time-honored tradition as we shift from winter to spring. The celebration and colors represent the forces of life. Since we enter Spring break this weekend, the Tufts Hindu Students Council (HSC) will be holding Holi on April 16 and the Tufts Hindu Chaplaincy will be holding group discussion on the Bhagavad Gita as It Is on April 1.

As we celebrate this time of Holi, let us allow ourselves to be shifted by the sparks of spring colors and the bright rays of day. As the sunlight increases, akin to the lighting of bonfires to celebrate Holi, I want to share this second verse of the Rakshoghna Mantra (रक्षोऽघोन) from the Rig Veda (रिग्वेद) often chanted to ward off evil:

$tava \text{ bhramasa asuya patantyanu sprsa dhrsata sosucanah}$
$tapumsyagne juhva pata\-\text{g}an asandito vi srja visvagulkah$ (2)

Your swift and whirling flames move quickly. Glowing in your fury may you consume evil. Offered (oblations) by ladle, may you cast scorching flames, sparks and firebrands all around you.

May the forces of life light like fires within you and the energy of Spring be yours this season.

Dhanyavaadah and best wishes,
Preeta Banerjee, Ph.D.

Russell Lecture on Spiritual Life & Solomont Speaker Series: Valarie Kaur
Monday, March 28, 4:30 p.m., Breed Memorial Hall

This year for the annual Russell Lecture on Spiritual Life, and as a Solomont Speaker Series event, we are welcoming civil rights leader, lawyer, award-winning filmmaker, educator, best-selling author and Sikh American woman warrior Valarie Kaur to Tufts. She will speak to us about Revolutionary Love - the way of being that allows us to be present for, care for, and fully respect ourselves and others. This event is generously sponsored by The Office of the President, the Chief Diversity Officers, the Generous Listening and Dialogue Center at Tisch College and the Arthur Vining Davis Foundations Interfaith Civic Studies Grant. You can read more about the event here on our website, and you can register for the event below.

Adventuring to Advocacy: Finding our paths to environmental justice
Save the date: April 10, 2022, 10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m., more details to come

Come join us for a day-long journey exploring our individual paths to climate justice. Through developing our stories, connecting to local organizations, and engaging with the worldviews of your friends and neighbors, begin to imagine your role in the advocacy needed in the fight for climate justice here on Tufts Campus and beyond. By working to understand the varied approaches to environmental salvation taken by activists and faith leaders alike, this workshop hopes to root us in our home and grow us into the change we wish to see. Hosted by the Tufts University Chaplaincy Interfaith Ambassador Program.
Share your hopes for the new Africana Spirituality Chaplain

Survey now open

This spring, the Tufts University Chaplaincy will hire a new Africana Spirituality Chaplain. The Africana Spirituality Chaplaincy, first established in 2017, seeks to create a comfortable space at Tufts for all students, staff and faculty, especially those of the African Diaspora, to grow in worship, fellowship, and community. The chaplain will be a member of the multifaith University Chaplaincy team and work in collaboration with campus partners to support and celebrate Afro-indigenous and Afro-diasporic traditions and communities. The chaplain will work with the Africana Center and offer collaborative programs and will build relationships and actively engage with the existing communities across Tufts' campuses. You can take the survey here.

Venerable Vineetha and Ji Hyang Padma will each speak about the integration of spirituality into our daily life, and about practices of spiritual friendship at the full moon.
Praying for Peace
Thursday, March 17, 12:00 p.m., EDT, Virtual

For many of us, our hearts are heavy as we watch the news unfold day by day, hour by hour. One thing we can do as a community is come together in solidarity to pray for peace. This Thursday, join the Catholic Chaplaincy to pray for peace both for the war in Ukraine and the many places that war spreads and continues to cause suffering across the globe. We pray for peace and end of strife worldwide. "In this unreal situation, any word of support and prayer is equal to a shield against the bombs or rockets of treacherous atrocity." May these words written by a Ukranian friend of a local Boston parish guide us and ground us. May they remind us of the power of prayer. You can find the zoom link here.

Counseling and Mental Health Services Support Space

Wednesday, March 16, 2:30 p.m.- 4:30 p.m.

Wednesday, March 16th is the one year anniversary of the horrific shooting at several Atlanta spas. Eight people were killed, six of whom were Asian women. Violence against Asian people in the US has not abated since then, and the impact of this violence is felt among our Asian community at Tufts. Counseling and Mental Health Services is offering a two-hour support space run by clinician Andrew Yuen, Psy.D. If you or a fellow student may benefit from support and community during this time, please consider joining. You can register in advance for this meeting here.
Join the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS) Community Fellows as we learn from Dr. Sylvia Chan-Malik, whose talk will explore the history and presence of Islam in America, and how American Islam transcends race, gender, culture, and politics. The talk will center the experiences of American Muslims, and will touch upon the legacies of historic Black Muslim men and women.

Dr. Sylvia Chan-Malik is a scholar of American studies, race and ethnic studies, women’s and gender studies, and... religious studies. Her research focuses on the history and presence of Islam in the United States, with a specific focus on the lives of U.S. Muslim women, Black American Islam, and the rise of anti-Muslim racism in 20th-21st-century America. Sylvia is a core faculty member in the Departments of American Studies and Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, and affiliate graduate faculty for the Department of Religion at Rutgers University-New Brunswick. Her writings appear in numerous journals and anthologies, with her commentary appearing in venues such as NPR, Slate, The Guardian, Mic, The Intercept, Middle East Eye, The Daily Beast, PRI, HuffPost, Patheos, Religion News Service, and more. You can register here.
Make Your Voice Heard!

Complete Tufts’ DEI Climate Survey by March 31 and help us create a more inclusive and responsive environment at Tufts.

Acknowledge Commit Transform
As you may have seen, the deadline to complete the university-wide Campus Climate Survey on Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging has been extended to March 31, and we have stepped up efforts to encourage all members of the university community to take the survey and provide valuable feedback. The survey was developed in alignment with Tufts’ anti-racism commitment to Acknowledge, Commit, and Transform (ACT) and results from the survey will help Tufts become a place where all members of our community feel a sense of belonging and contribute in ways that celebrate their identity. Individual survey responses will be anonymous and a report on the results will be released later this semester. You can find the survey in an email from Rob Mack and Joyce Sackey, Associate Provosts and Chief Diversity Officers.

Resources, Scholarships, and Opportunities

Healing Higher Education: Race, Reckoning, and Radical Reimagining, Beginning on Thursday, March 17th, 7:00 p.m.-8:30 p.m. ET, Virtual

This webinar series will explore the question: How might we catalyze healing and transformation in higher education if we are to live together peacefully, respect the planet, and uplift the human spirit? You can find more information here. You can register here.
Combined Jewish Philanthropies Scholarships

Application Deadline is April 29 for current undergraduate students and May 15 for incoming Freshmen.

Every year, the Combined Jewish Philanthropies Scholarship Fund provides financial assistance to eligible undergraduate students in the Boston area. In partnership with JVS Boston, the applicants are interviewed and based on that information a Committee of volunteers award grants. In the last four years, the Committee has made 251 awards for a total disbursement of $1,400,000. Primary consideration is given to Jewish students. Under certain circumstances, one-year Israel programs are considered. An application may be requested by clicking here. For more information, see this flyer. Please contact Lee Ann Bennett if you have any questions.

Upcoming Religious Celebrations and Observances

These events are drawn from the multifaith calendar maintained by the Office of Religious and Spiritual Life at Harvard Divinity School. To see more upcoming religious holidays and festivals, please follow the link to the Harvard Divinity School calendar.

Nineteen Day Fast
Tue., Mar. 1 – Sat., Mar. 19, 2022
Tradition: Baha'i
A designated 19-day period of fasting each year immediately before the Bahá’í New Year. The fasting is seen as a period of spiritual preparation and regeneration for the new year ahead.

Great Lent
Mon., Mar. 7 – Sat., Apr. 23, 2022
Tradition: Christianity-Orthodox
In Orthodox churches, the first day of Lent marks the beginning of the Great Fast, the final six weeks of a 10-week period leading up to Holy Week and Easter (Pascha). In the churches that follow the Gregorian calendar, Lent is a six-week observance (40 days excluding Sundays) beginning with Ash Wednesday and culminating in Holy Week. It is a time of repentance and sacrifice in preparation for Easter.

Ghambar Hamaspathmaedem
Tradition: Zoroastrianism
Celebrates the creation of human beings and honors the souls of the deceased.

Purim (Feast of Lots)
Wed., Mar. 16, 2022
Tradition: Judaism
Celebrates the rescue of the Jews of ancient Persia from a plot to destroy them as related in the Book of Esther, which is read at this time. Purim is a joyous holiday, celebrated by wearing of costumes, giving gifts to friends, giving to the poor, and socializing. Preceded by the Fast of Esther, Purim is a day of feasting. Begins at sundown.

Laylat al-Bara’ah
Thu., Mar. 17, 2022
Tradition: Islam
Begins at sundown. On this night, God approaches the Earth to call humanity and to grant forgiveness of sins. Observed on the 14th day of the lunar month of Sha'ban.
Holi
Fri., Mar. 18, 2022
Tradition: Hinduism
A joyous spring Hindu festival that is dedicated to Krishna in some parts of India; in other parts of India, it is dedicated to Kama, the God of Pleasure. People throw colored water or colored powder in celebration.

Ostara
Sat., Mar. 19, 2022
Tradition: Wicca/Paganism
Vernal Equinox, celebrating the equivalence of light and dark and the arrival of Spring.

Naw Ruz
Sun., Mar. 20, 2022
Tradition: Baha’i
The seventh greatest festival, "New Day" is the first day of the Zoroastrian/Persian and Baha’i New Year. It falls on the spring equinox and symbolizes the renewal of the world after the winter. For Zoroastrians, Naw Ruz also celebrates the creation of fire that is symbolic of Asha, or righteousness. It is also the day on which Zarathustra received his revelation.

Hydesville Day
Thu., Mar. 31, 2022
Tradition: Spiritualism
On this date in 1848, the discarnate soul of Charles B. Rosna communicated via the mediumship of the Fox sisters heralding the advent of Modern Spiritualism.
