To continue receiving our emails, add us to your address book.

This email was sent to.

Fairfax, VA | 22030 US

Got this as a forward?

Contents of this Month's Update

October 2020

Did you miss the last Distinguished Speaker Series? Watch speaker "In Online Commercial SexAds" about the Ecosystem Through the Online Payment and the Facilitation of Cybercrime.

Social networks are the strongest predictors of gang violence. Gangs and networks, formulated as testable empirical statements: 1) Gang boundaries are messy but best measured via networks; 2) Gangs and networks, formulated as testable empirical statements: 1) Gang boundaries are messy but best measured via networks; 2) Gang networks are key to money laundering. The American Psychological Association and University of Ohio sponsored the session. Redlich, a Professor of Criminology, Law and Society at George Mason University, discussed the relationship between false confessions, false guilty pleas, and the mental illness of the accused. In addition, Redlich discussed how credit card transactions have increasingly become a conduit for money laundering. The talk is part of the Distinguished Speaker Series. Wednesday, October 14, 2020, 12:00pm-1:30pm.

You're invited to submit articles, photos, videos, and story ideas to include in upcoming issues of the CINA newsletter. Visit our website's digital archive to read past issues and find more submission guidelines. Did you miss the previous issues? Check them out now. This month's newsletter features articles on various topics, including but not limited to: gang violence, money laundering, and mental illness and justice.

In her presentation at the El Paso, Texas conference billed as a virtual Who's Who in the field, Dr. Devon Johnson, recently headlined the American Psychological Association and University of Ohio sponsored the session. Redlich, a Professor of Criminology, Law and Society at George Mason University, discussed the relationship between false confessions, false guilty pleas, and the mental illness of the accused. In addition, Redlich discussed how credit card transactions have increasingly become a conduit for money laundering. The talk is part of the Distinguished Speaker Series. Wednesday, October 14, 2020, 12:00pm-1:30pm.

Visit our website to learn more about the CINA newsletter and the latest updates from the CINA team. Stay Connected.

CINA Welcome: 2021-22 Open-RFP White Paper Submissions

News

Virtual Event: Trade Discourse and the Facilitation of Cybercrime Ecosystem

Virtual Event: Social Outlaws - What Network Data Tells Us About Gangs

Session Recap: "Finding Trafficking Networks in Online Commercial Sex Ads"

Register Now