Science and Policy Assistant Professor
The lag in the move towards renewable energy Thursday, September 17, 2020 science.gmu.edu

Humboldt
Wednesday, October 21, 2020 | 1 p.m.
September 21 - 25 | 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Tuesday, September 22, 2020 | 11 a.m.
Friday, September 18, 2020 | 10 to 11 a.m.
Mathematical Modeling and Numerics for Nematic Liquid Crystals of Maryland Distinguished University Professor.
Locascio, and Nobel Laureate Dr. Bill Phillips. Dr. Phillips is a renowned science communicator a fireside chat between University of Maryland's Vice President for Research, Dr. Laurie Join the Mid-Atlantic Quantum Alliance (MQA) on physics?
Quantum Basics for the Curious: A Fireside Chat with

Atmosphere Studies
Atmospheric, Oceanic and Earth Sciences Science and Policy be held from the upcoming "Virginia's Climate Future" panel to hope to convey to state decision makers with but the dangers of climate change remain The global pandemic has changed the paradigm, by John Hollis

Report 2021 Best Colleges

NOAA taps Mason COLA scientists prediction models to analyze, update drought

Haley Ball completed her PhD in focused on antibiotics targeting drug Recent PhD graduate's research

Yet, I'll echo Dr. Washington's words…we still have a lot of work to do.
also shared that the chair of our biology department is a woman and that six of our twelve funding for groundbreaking and influential research and establishing successful collaborations.
I also described some of our influential and impactful female faculty who may not lead their centers, labs, or units yet are leading in their respective fields, receiving significant research positions at Mason that have VABio "Women Building Bio" virtual conference. We discussed the importance of effective and

Championing Women in STEM at Mason
by Dean Fernando R. Miralles-Wilhelm

In this Issue
Welcome New Faculty
Meet our newest faculty
Complete the survey
Stay Connected

Welcome New Faculty
Since January, the College of Science brought on a to our email list.

Meet our newest faculty
Welcome New Faculty
Since January, the College of Science brought on a Number of new faculty and would like to officially

Complete the survey
Complete a survey to help identify the many

Stay Connected