4 Warning Signs of Computer Viruses

Computer viruses can infect your computer in the blink of an eye, and many can do some serious damage to your system. So watch out for these warning signs:

1. Strange and frequent pop-ups

If you're getting bombarded by pop-up ads, this may be a sign your computer is infected by a virus. Also beware of unusual alerts and ads that advertise anti-virus products.

2. Messages you didn't send

If a friend says they received a fishy email, instant message, or social media message from you that you didn't send, you might have a computer virus.
