Dear Science Students:

Here's what's happening around the College of Science.

Here are some upcoming events and activities in the College of Science.

Like you, I will be wearing orange on the 29th and hopefully on Jan. 7th!

Fall semester finishing strong!

Go Tigers!

---

Student leaders help recruit best and brightest

Meet our 2018-19 SCIENCE Student Ambassadors (in orange) and 2018 COSMIC Science Peer Support Mentors (in purple). Together, these student leaders serve our prospective students, as well as current underrepresented freshmen in SCIENCE. If you see them in the halls, at recruiting events, or out and about on campus, feel free to thank them for a job well done in helping Clemson recruit and retain the best and brightest SCIENCE students.

Hooding at 3 p.m. in the Brooks Center on Dec. 19.

Michigan teams tours Clemson SCALE-UP classroom

Teachers and administrators from Rockford, Michigan, toured Clemson's SCALE-UP classroom in the Cooper Library on Friday, Dec. 7. The team traveled more than 800 miles to see firsthand how Clemson scientists are reshaping instruction for its students in hopes of applying the active-learning model to its own SCALE-UP classroom.

Clemson scientists measure all of the starlight ever produced by the observable universe

A team of physicists led by Professor Janna Gelfand has measured all of the starlight ever produced by the observable universe. The team’s findings were published online Nov. 15 in the journal Science.

Musical theater production inspires marine conservation awareness for Upstate locals

Clemson University’s Seabury Hall, in collaboration with the Upstate Regional Office of Marine Science, has brought the Off-Broadway musical, "Sea Wall/A Life," to Greenville on Nov. 17.

As today's student leaders, Clemson's ODK members are forging the future

Clemson students and alumni who are members of the ODK Club are leading the charge in building a more inclusive community on campus. The Clemson chapter of the ODK Club recently held a drive for non-perishable food items to help fight hunger on campus.

Clemson scientists measure all of the starlight ever produced by the observable universe

A team of physicists led by Professor Janna Gelfand has measured all of the starlight ever produced by the observable universe. The team's findings were published online Nov. 15 in the journal Science.

Musical theater production inspires marine conservation awareness for Upstate locals

Clemson University’s Seabury Hall, in collaboration with the Upstate Regional Office of Marine Science, has brought the Off-Broadway musical, “Sea Wall/A Life,” to Greenville on Nov. 17.

As today’s student leaders, Clemson’s ODK members are forging the future

Clemson students and alumni who are members of the ODK Club are leading the charge in building a more inclusive community on campus. The Clemson chapter of the ODK Club recently held a drive for non-perishable food items to help fight hunger on campus.