Let's get started…

We know it is all too easy to glide from semester to semester without taking the time to reflect. As we tie a bow on fall semester and look ahead to spring, let's use this holiday break to engage with our learning and reflect on this semester and prepare for the next. Learning and personal growth requires personal reflection. We want you to come back to campus in the spring semester refreshed, revitalized, and ready to learn.

Carve out a few minutes to try the design thinking exercise below. This exercise was created by Stanford Design School’s Executive Director, Sara Stein Greenburg, and David Kelley.

Define the Problem

For both lines, label the highs and lows. Recall and capture in detail what occurred in those moments.

For the top line label the moment you feel you achieved the most (i.e., your fall 2021 semester).

For the bottom line label the moment you felt the lowest (e.g., dealing with unexpected challenges).
